To Tackle Appropriations

Lowest introduced a resolution that the appropriation bill, Senate Bill 30, be made the order of the day for Monday and Thursday of each week, commencing Monday, March 4. Senate Bill 32, providing a more severe penalty than formerly, up to 2 years imprisonment, for the crime of intercourse with a female under fourteen, came up for third reading. Makekau moved to amend by making the minimum penalty one year, in order to allow no loophole for Circuit Judges whereby they could impose small penalties.

Chillingworth said that it could be taken for granted that no Circuit Judges would act in such a manner. Smith disagreed with the amendment. He had found in prosecuting that where the lowest penalty was severe juries would often acquit in cases where the minimum seemed too severe.

Makekau withdrew the amendment and the bill passed third reading by a unanimous vote.

Senate Bill 33, relating to the crime of burglary, passed third reading unanimously.

Senate Joint Resolution 1, providing for the appointment of a tax commission, passed third reading.

REBEKAH DANCE

Although the weather was a little unpleasant, a trifle like that was not able to mar the festivities of the dance given last night by Olive Branch Rebekeh Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. There was a happy crowd present all the evening who enjoyed themselves to the utmost and then took advantage of a special car, thoughtfully provided by the lodge, in which they were taken to their homes after the regular cars had stopped running.

The music furnished by the Royal Hawaiian Glee Club was unusually good and kept every one on the floor all the time. All the arrangements for the occasion had been carefully prepared before hand and there was not the slightest hitch to mar the pleasure of the evening. The following committee is responsible for the very pleasant evening given to about 75 couples: M. T. Simonton, Miss Mae Cantle, Miss Thora Ous, Mrs. Margaret Simonton, Mrs. Margaret Ferguson and Miss Agnes Dunne.

At the voting in the United States Senate on whether Senator Reed Smoot, the Mormon, should retain his seat or not, the Senate was crowded to suffocation. Every seat in the gallery was filled and standing room on the floor of the Senate was a perfect jam of members of the House and employees. Never before has the standing of a Senator attracted such marked attention.

It has lately been disclosed that quite a number of speculators in the wheat pit at Chicago have been pinched pretty hard. A greater part of this wheat, nearly 8,000,000 bushels is held by eastern plungers who got in at the wrong time. Wheat has been on the decline for many months and these speculators cannot unload except by suffering the loss of a fortune.
